What happens if I change my major field of study after accepting Knowledge Program dollars?

A key reason why students are not accepted into the Knowledge Program until they begin their chosen field of study is to ensure the best possible path to a successful graduation. Does the Knowledge Program guarantee me a position upon graduation?

The Knowledge Program is intended to grow highly trained, patient-focused, direct-patient-care employees. We are cautious about the number of individuals enrolled in the program to ensure there are opportunities for all of our participants post-graduation. This careful planning ensures an exceptionally high placement rate, with little worry that there would not be a position upon graduation.

What if I don’t want the shift or specialty area that is offered to me post-graduation?

As a part of the screening process, we try to ensure accepted candidates have the flexibility necessary to meet the 24/7 world of healthcare. Though we try to make sure graduates obtain the shift and/or area where they wish to work, there are no true guarantees. Placements are generally to full-time positions.

What is the commitment period for the Knowledge Program?

It depends on the amount of funds accepted. Generally, a six-month work requirement for every $2,500 in Knowledge Program payment is required.

The Knowledge Program is a loan forgiveness program, meaning once the student graduates and begins working he or she will be responsible for the taxed portion of the loan. This is done over a period of time to reduce any negative impact on the employee.
