| Pain relief and preferences during labor: |☐  *Walking (Some doctors do not allow you to walk after your water is broken.) ________MD initials
☐  Dim lights
☐  Birthing ball
☐  Music (please bring your own)
☐  Water therapy (shower)
☐  Wear your own gown (must be open in the back)
☐  Intravenous medication
☐  Epidural
☐  Nitrous oxide (only available at certain location(s))
☐  Please do not offer medication or epidural to me in labor |
| Have you attended (or plan to attend) Lamaze or Bradley classes for breathing and relaxation exercises for labor? | ☐  Yes
☐  No |
| To monitor your baby during labor, a fetal monitor is placed around your abdomen. If your doctor approves, you may have the monitors off for short periods of time. | ☐  I prefer continuous monitoring. (This is standard practice for most patients and is required if labor is induced.)
☐  *I prefer intermittent monitoring. (This requires MD order.) ________MD initials |
| During labor, you may receive an IV (intravenous line) to deliver needed medications or fluids. Your doctor can order your IV line disconnected for short periods of time (called a saline lock). | ☐  I prefer a continuously infusing IV.
☐  *I prefer a saline lock only (This requires MD order.) ________MD initials |
| Do you want a mirror for pushing and/or delivery? | ☐  Yes
☐  No |
| What is your preference regarding an episiotomy? | ☐  I would like my MD to allow natural stretching. I am aware there is a possibility that the skin and tissue might tear.
☐  I want my MD to cut an episiotomy, if needed. |
Food and drink during labor
You may only have ice chips or popsicles during labor. This is for your safety, so that we can provide you a higher level of care, such as surgery, at a moment’s notice.

Visitors during labor and delivery
During your labor and delivery, you are allowed three visitors at a time in your room, including your primary support person. We provide guidelines for visitation during your labor and delivery that our staff will share with you prior to your delivery. This practice helps us protect you and your family while respecting other patients experiencing the birth of a new baby. For everyone’s privacy, we kindly ask all visitors not in your L&D room to wait in our waiting room.

Newborn care
Standard care of newborns typically includes eye ointment within one hour of birth, a vitamin K injection (used to prevent bleeding from vitamin K deficiency) and an injection of the hepatitis B vaccine. If you have questions regarding any of these medical interventions, please discuss them with your pediatrician prior to delivery.

I understand that this plan may be altered due to changes in my health or the health of my baby.
